Beach Front Property Owners Object To Harbor Proposal

A group of Bay St. Louis beachfront owners appeared at Monday's commission council meeting to voice their objections to a proposed small craft harbor near the American Legion jetty.

The City of Bay St. Louis has leased the jetty from the American Legion and Operation Upturn is presently constructing a pier at the site.

Spokesman for the group, Waldo Otis, quoted from an article that appeared recently in The Sea Coast Echo in which John McKenna, Upturn administrator, stated that plans had been proposed for a small craft harbor. However, McKenna said that there are no immediate plans or funds for the harbor construction.

Otis complained about the condition of the beach area caused by the jetty. "An improper tide flow has been created causing an overgrowth of Marsh grass on the beach, and the sand is turning to mud."

He suggested that cuts be made through the jetty to allow the water to flow.

Several other property owners objected to the small craft harbor, because it would turn into a commercial venture when all of the property in the area is zoned residential. Local architect Fred Wagner also pointed out that a traffic problem would result from people using the harbor due to the fact that the Beach Road is very narrow.

Mayor Warren Carver assured the group that there are no plans for a harbor in the near future and emphasized that property owners would be given sufficient notice if such a project was undertaken.

Charges Dropped Against Policeman

Charges of theft against Bay St. Louis policeman Emmett Ellis were dropped Monday at a quasi-judicial hearing conducted by the city commission council.

Ellis had been charged with taking gasoline from a pump at the police station into his own automobile. The charges were dismissed when Earl Lizana, who brought the charges against Ellis, could not identify Ellis as having taken the gasoline.

In his testimony, Lizana, who lives next to the police station on Carroll Ave., told the council that he had seen two men pumping gasoline into a private automobile. He went outside and wrote down the license number of the car but the two men had left. Lizana then called Mayor Warren Carver, related the incident and gave him the license number of the car. According to Lizana, the next morning, Carver identified the license as belonging to Ellis.

Bay St. Louis policeman Harris Boudreaux testified that on July 22, because of a flat tire, Ellis' car had been jacked up in front of Ellis' home. Ellis testified that his automobile was not at the station at any time on July 22 and was not fixed until the following day.

Michael Haas, Ellis' attorney, asked Lizana if he was against the police force and the City of Bay St. Louis. Lizana said that his peace and quiet were often disturbed by loud talking and laughing from the police station and described the policeman as a "bunch of delinquents." When Lizana was questioned by both Commissioners William Feible and Haas, he (Lizana) admitted that he could not identify the men whom he saw pumping the gas.

Following the incident, Ellis was suspended for one day but was immediately reinstated. The hearing was a continuation of one held in September. At that time, Lizana did not appear because Mayor Carver had failed to notify him of the hearing date.

Bay Voters Grant Power Franchise

Voters in Bay St. Louis have granted a 55-year franchise to Mississippi Power Co. in a special election held Tuesday.

The voter turnout was considered heavy for an election of this nature and the final count was 440-55. The percentage of those who voted to grant the franchise, 88.9 percent, in Bay St. Louis was the highest in the history of such an election.

Perry Gibson, local manager, said he was especially appreciative that 604 people took the time from their daily routine to vote. With no other issue on the ballot, and this being the fourth time to vote in recent months, he realized that people were tired of going to the polls and that this did represent a special effort.

He expressed the appreciation of each of the local employees. "We consider this an endorsement of our past efforts and we will continue to do our best to provide reliable and courteous service."

Bureau Lists Improvements Needed In Fire Department

Bay St. Louis assistant fire chief, Wayne Bourn, recently requested that the Mississippi State Rating Bureau make recommendations to the fire department that would change the present rating from an eighth to a seventh class.

Fifteen recommendations to the city commission council Monday morning and told the council members that he and fireman Richard Fayard had just returned from a training seminar in Oxford, Miss.

The fifteen recommendations listed by the bureau are:

1. Place the fire department under the leadership of a City Will capable fire chief. We must have a fire chief who is capable of handling the fire department. We must have a fire chief who is capable of handling the fire department.

2. Provide three paid men on duty at all times with the shift personnel required to respond along with the volunteer fire-fighters. At first, this might seem a large step in manpower but Bay St. Louis is large enough to require a two-company response. Rather than have two companies with skeleton crews responding, we believe that it would be better that one better manned company respond.

3. Provide another 1000 g. p. m. pumper and retire the old 1952 unit. This would give you one pumper in reserve and one in service.

4. Provide and maintain a minimum of 3,000 feet of serviceable 2 1/2-inch double jacket fire hose at all times. Hose to be tested annually to 250 pounds pressure and records kept of such tests.

5. Provide and carry on both pumpers two self-contained breathing apparatus approved by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and provided for each pumper.

6. Provide and carry on the pumper in service a deluge gun capable of delivering full capacity of the pump in addition to the intended use of this unit at some fires, a deluge gun is necessary for use in the required testing of pumps.

7. Provide additional minor equipment (minor in size only) to be carried on each pumper. To give you suggestions of equipment which should be carried on a pumper we enclose a copy of two paragraphs of NFPA 19 which lists this equipment.

8. Provide two-way radio on all fire department vehicles and a portable unit to be used by personnel making company and fire prevention inspections.

9. Provide salvage equipment in the form of mops, brooms, squeegees, etc. to be used by the firefighters to lessen damage due to water following fire extinguishment.

10. Provide a suitable fire station to house men and equipment. The proposed location in the former school building is suitable and acceptable.

11. Continue the training program begun for all firefighters and send as many as possible to Regional and State Fire Schools. To assist the officers in a training program a library of fireman's training manuals and books should be increased annually.

12. Begin a program of building inspections by all firefighters, including all volunteers, to familiarize them with all commercial buildings. This should result in them being familiar with structural details and hazards in buildings and pre-planning of the most hazardous or those in which the loss of life might be heavy.

13. Maintain a complete record of all fire department operations. This would include records of fires, training, maintenance and testing of equipment and the check of an inventory of all equipment periodically.

14. Continue to enforce the Fire Prevention Code, which has been adopted. Records should be kept of all inspections and follow-up enforcement procedures.

15. Provide a telephone or radio system to alert all off-duty firefighters and volunteers.

The recommendations are based upon the bureau's inspection of the city's fire fighting facilities last May.

Two Bay Firemen Attend Seminar

Two members of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department attended a seminar on Fire Investigation and Arson held last week in Oxford, Miss., under the auspices of the State Firefighters' School.

Asst. Chief Edward Friloux and fireman Richard Fayard attended the three-day seminar along with 48 members of fire and law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

Other agencies involved in the coordination of the training seminar were the Mississippi Extension Service and the state Fire Marshal's office, which sponsor similar training courses on an unscheduled basis in various cities throughout the state, for the benefit of fire department personnel in communities unable to provide their own training schools.

Seminar classes were geared toward investigation by police as well as fire department personnel of fires in which arson is suspected. Instructors participating in the conference included W.R. Wetherington, chief investigator for the state of Virginia fire marshal's office, W.N. O'Neal, chief investigator for the state fire marshal, North Carolina; Peter Maston, Alcohol, Tobacco and Fire Arms Div. of the U.S. Treasury Dept., as well as officials from the state of Mississippi.

Some of the topics covered in the seminar were Arson Laws of Miss., Arson Motives and the fireman's role in arson detection.

Health Director Addresses Auxiliary

Dr. Louis H. Jobe, Jr., was guest speaker at the November meeting of the Hancock General Hospital Women's Auxiliary and his talk, including much of the past history of the Health Department's growth in Mississippi, was most interesting. As early as 1788 Mississippi was concerned with the health of its people, with the first organized Health Department formed in Natchez in 1818.

Dr. Jobe, retiring after 33 years in the U.S. Army, was appointed Director of the Health Department of Hancock County in 1968. His staff consists of three sanitarians, two nurses and two clerks. He told of the three major epidemics which had brought misfortune to Mississippi - in 1873 Yellow Fever, in 1901 Small Pox, and in 1918 Influenza. Later years brought an infestation of hook worm, which cases were cleared up rapidly, but at this time there are cases of pinworm existing.

Funds from the Rockefeller Foundation were given Mississippi in 1915 to combat malaria with Hancock County one of the first areas to benefit. He spoke of the alarming increase of venereal diseases, but on a note of optimism, he was pleased to report that tuberculosis cases were under control. At present the Health Department is concerned with the matter of the health and welfare of its older people.

Nursing care in the home, free shots for flu, free laboratory work are just a few of the advantages being offered them. He concluded his talk with mention of the high water table of the area which was presenting a very serious problem - as the use of septic tanks was resulting in pollution of the coastal waters.

During the business session an announcement was made by the Auxiliary president, Mrs. Clarence A. Evans of the graduation exercises of the Practical Nurses class to be held in the Sy Rosenthal Gym on the night of November 23. Mrs. Merlin, Candy Striper's Advisor, was asked to select four Candy Stripers to act as ushers at the affair. The Auxiliary will, as usual, furnish the refreshments to the class members and their guests.

New members, Mrs. Herbert Baron and Mrs. Walter Beniz were announced as having joined the past month. Two guests, and prospective members, Mrs. Jaubert and Mrs. Saugin were introduced.

Group Will Purchase New Machine

Edwardsville Extension Homemakers Club met last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Edna Poolson with Mrs. Robert Murphy as hostess.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Poolson, president, the group voted to purchase a sewing machine for the Wayland 4-H Club.

Plans were formulated for the annual Christmas party and the date set for December 14 at noon in the home of Mrs. Poolson.

Mrs. Poolson read a letter pertaining to community development and Mrs. Kenneth Fatch gave a demonstration on making rose buds from seashells. There were 12 members attending.

The meeting closed with the thought for November, "Happiness grows at our own firesides, and is not to be picked in strangers' gardens."

Students Visit NASA Facility

Kenneth Bourgeois' third period Geometry class from Bay Senior High went on a field trip to NASA on November 9. The trip included a tour of the NASA buildings and lunch at the NASA cafeteria. They were shown a film on the latest Apollo Flight into space.

Night Circle Holds Meeting

W.S.C.S. Night Circle of the Main Street United Methodist Church met last Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C.C. McDonald Jr. Mrs. George Lipscomb, newly elected president, conducted the business session and Mrs. Harris Boudreaux gave the devotional.

Plans were made for a joint Christmas party with the Morning Circle at 7:30 p.m., December 16 in Fellowship Hall.

It was reported a number of shut-ins had been visited during the month.

The Night Circle will hold its next meeting and Christmas party December 7 in the home of Mrs. Bernard Walton. Each member is asked to bring a gift to be sent for the child sponsored by the group at the Methodist Home in Jackson.

Mrs. David McDonald presented the program from the Book of Ephesians, "The Wife's Place in the Family Life of the Jews, Greeks and Roman marriages during the Bible Days."

There were 10 members and a guest, Mrs. Carrie Smith, attending.

Travelling On Horseback -- The Only Way To Go

by Marileen Maher
Echo News Editor

At one time or another, most of us have had the desire to "get away" to walk away from the sounds and sights of modern America and travel across this country to see other people, other places. John Steinbeck did it in 1960 when at the age of sixty, he set out to discover the United States, accompanied only by a French poodle named Charley. In 1971, Jim Steadman, a 31-year-old ranch foreman, is travelling from Miami, Fla., to Rio Rico, Arizona—not with a poodle but on a horse whose name just happens to be Charley.

Tuesday, Steadman was passing through Bay St. Louis, hoping to make New Orleans before dusk. "I got the idea from Steinbeck," Steadman said, "and I've always wanted to make a long trip on horseback."

Steadman hasn't encountered any problems since his journey began last Thursday and emphasized that he had received cooperation from police along his route. "People driving on the road stop and talk to me and often give me sandwiches and ask questions about what I'm doing," he said. However, Steadman does have one problem—he was married October 29 and his wife didn't exactly visualize a "separate honeymoon." She doesn't think it's the greatest thing in the world but she tolerates it.

Steadman commented, "His wife, the former Susan Beauchamp of Gulfport will meet Steadman at various points along the way. And how is Charley taking all of this? Very well, according to Steadman, who said that Charley is capable of travelling between 50 and 70 miles a day. "I stop when Charley gets tired. Water is no problem because I often stop along the road at a small stream or at a roadside service station," he remarked.

Steadman hopes to be in Houston by Thanksgiving and in Rio Rico during the week before Christmas. When he's not taking long trips on horseback, Steadman is a foreman at Remuda Ranch Resort in Goodland, Fla., near Miami. His destination is another resort in Rio Rico and both are owned by the GAC corporation. "I have no trouble finding a place for both Charley and myself, although we usually can't stay at the same hotel," Steadman concluded. While here, Charley stayed at the Lazy V Stables in Edwardsville but the rider preferred the local Ramada Inn.

Jim Steadman is doing what a lot of us only dream about. Perhaps, the feeling of wanderlust is stronger in some. It was in John Steinbeck who wrote in the first paragraph of "Travels With Charley."

When I was very young and the urge to be someplace else was on me, I was assured by mature people that maturity would cure this itch. When years described me as mature, the remedy prescribed was middle age. In middle age I was assured that greater age would calm my fever and now that I am fifty-eight perhaps senility will do the job. Nothing has worked. Four hoarse blasts of a ship's whistle still raise the hair on my neck and set my feet to tapping. The sound of a jet, an engine warming up, even the clapping of shod hooves on pavement brings on the ancient shudder, the dry mouth and vacant eye, the hot palms and the churn of stomach high up under the rib cage.

MODERN SPEED limits aren't always applicable to those who travel the highways. Jim Steadman prefers the leisurely pace

JIM STEADMAN, who is riding on horseback from Florida to Arizona, pauses during his trip through Bay St. Louis. Charley, Steadman's horse, appears to enjoy the brief stop.

IN-MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved son and brother, Johnny Benigno
 Nov. 20, 1970.

THY WILL BE DONE
 "I'll lend you for a little time
 a child of mine," He said,
 "For you to love while he lives, and mourn for when he's dead. It may be six or seven years, or twenty two or three, but will you still call him back, take care of him for me?"

He'll bring his charms to gladden you and should his stay be brief, you'll have his lovely memories as solace for your grief. I cannot promise he will stay since all on earth return, but there are lessons taught down here I want this child to learn.

I've looked the wide world over in my search for teachers true, and from the throats that crowd life's lanes, I have selected you.
 Now will you give him all your love, not think the labor vain, nor hate me when I come to call, to take him back again?"

I flattered that I heard them say, "Dear Lord, Thy Will Be Done! For all the joy, thy child shall bring; the risk of grief will run, we'll shelter him with tenderness, we'll love him while we may, and for the happiness we have known forever grateful stay.
 But should the angels call for him, we'll have the bitter grief that comes and tries to understand, and so terribly much by Daddy, Mother, Brother and Sister.

Local Barber Recalls Long And Happy Career

After 65 years in the same business, A. J. Piazza is retiring as a barber.

Tony, as he is known to most of the local populace, began his career as a barber when he was just 14 years old. Born in New Orleans, he came to the Bay with his family as a small child and has remained ever since.

He first learned barbering from Joe Pravata in his shop on Central Ave. and later, opened his own which he operated for 63 consecutive years.

Tony has seen much of the local citizenry in his business, as the generations grew and brought children of their own to Tony for haircuts.

First Birthday

Eddie Shanahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shanahan, celebrated his first birthday November 3 with a party at the home of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nease.

A clown theme was used in the decorations and on the birthday cake. Enjoying the occasion with Eddie were Tina Henley, Rob and Connally Compretta, Carol and Glenda Miller, Micah Nease, Regina and Howard Parker, Roger, Jackie and Buster Miller, Tina, Mona and Dave Shanahan, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Henley, his great-grand parents Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tate, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henley, Mrs. Bobby Compretta, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nease, Mrs. Douglas Parker, Mrs. Benton Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David Shanahan, his parents and grandparents.

"I want to thank all my customers of many years," he said, "and in particular, my gratitude to those 'fifth-generation' families for their support in those years."

Tony has seen the Bay-Waveland area change from a horse and buggy town with no gas system to a more thriving community of today. The 79-year-old barber worked the last two years in another shop, but says adamantly he doesn't intend, after retiring, to work for anyone else again or open his own shop.

He is willing, however, to continue to take care of old customers who are ill or cannot get out. "They can just call me and I'll be happy to serve them at home," he said.

Mr. Piazza is a member of the Woodmen of the World organization and recently was given a gold 50-year pin from that group. He is also a member of the American Legion Post 139.

A. J. PIAZZA

He has a son and daughter, both married and living away from the area.

BAY ST. LOUIS Garden of the Month belongs to Mrs. Charles Genin and is located at 448 De Montluzin St. The Garden of the Month is chosen by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

Party Given For Champions

Eddie Richardson, a member of the Bay Jr. High Football team, held a party at Waveland Roller Rink on November 14, in honor of the championship team.

Those attending were Judy Stafford and Trent Crowe, John Lanclos and Donna Houston, Cathy Lanclos, Butch Burton.

Trinity Episcopal Consecrated

Rapping authoritatively with his crozier upon the outer doors of the Trinity Episcopal Church of Pass Christian, the Right Reverend John Maury Allin, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Mississippi said, "Open me the gates of righteousness, that I may go into them, and give thanks unto the Lord."

This formal ritual was preceded with the presentation of the ceremonial key to the church. The ornate key, made from the finest Arabesque wood with hand-applied finish, was passed from contractor to architect, then to the Senior Warden and on to the Bishop.

Very early in the afternoon the nave of the church had filled with worshippers, many of whom were elderly and arrived early to have assurance of a seat. Outside beneath a towering oak and on a paved area chairs had been placed to accommodate those who found no room within the church, but wished to hear the consecration service, and the sermon of The Right Reverend Girault M. Jones, D. D., present Chancellor of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tennessee, who served as rector of Trinity Episcopal in Pass Christian 1931-36. Seats were also provided in the Parish House to accommodate approximately 100 more people. In all an estimated 600 people thrilled to the Processional Hymn: "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" and to the Litany of Praise lead by choir director, Mrs. Byrd Cassberry, and with a mellow blending of voices in congregational response.

In an all inclusive sentence the Bishop consecrated the altar, the vessels and vestments to the Glory of God and set apart the church as a building to be used for the sacraments of Holy Communion, Baptism, Confirmation, and Marriage. Thirty-one persons were confirmed on this occasion with Mrs. Helen Gleaton, flautist and the children's choir rendering the Confirmation Anthem, "The Little Lamb".

Rector Durrie B. Hardin introduced the Right Reverend Jones who expressed himself as being "very much at home" in the reincarnation of the Trinity Episcopal Buildings which were destroyed during Hurricane Camille.

NOVEMBER GARDEN of the Month, chosen by the Lakeshore Garden Club is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwartz Jr. in Clermont Harbor.

During the weeks prior to the consecration service the rector prepared his congregation by stressing themes of Thanksgiving, Faith, and Praise. Chancellor Jones said: "When people really trust in God, somehow they become people with power to go on." He also said he was most impressed with the continuity of the faith as shown by the people of Trinity who stood, following the destruction of church property, on land laid waste by a great hurricane and in the open thus by their presence gave evidence of inward and spiritual grace. "A faith under test of calamity," Chancellor Jones expressed the view that there is a human need for a special location set aside where people unite and join together in praise, thanksgiving and rituals of sacraments.

Of the newly erected church Chancellor Jones said: "This is above all else the reincarnation. Where there is faith we survive."

Of the Rector, Durrie Hardin, the Chancellor referred to him as "a builder of churches," and recalled vividly an incident happening in 1927 when the young student minister serving a congregation in an outpost called Roark Cove near Winchester, Tennessee, resolved to get his congregation out of a building that "leaned about thirty degrees". According to the Chancellor, he shared in this experiment of church-building, and said young Hardin gave up his summer vacation to carry bricks and other building materials to complete the little church. "I don't know how many other churches Durrie has built since then," the Chancellor concluded.

Following the consecration service a reception in the Parish House was hosted by the Martha Witherspoon Chapter under the co-chairmanship of Misses Belleville Whitehead, Jr. and Jason Floyd, Jr. Coffee, punch and other refreshments were served. Flowers provided by Loraine Adams decorated both altar and church vestibule. Assisting with floral decorations in the Parish House were Misses A. M. Dantler and R. C. Hammel. At the guest register was Mrs. Lloyd B. Griffith of Bay St. Louis.

For the benefit of those unable to attend WLOX, through the courtesy of Jim Allen, devoted the 8:00 News Hour on Monday that all might enjoy the beauty of the service, the impressive taste of those changed with the details of consecration and appointments. Of the service Mrs. Stanford, general chairman who also coordinated committees, said it was fantastic. Every committee cooperated in an outstanding manner. There wasn't a single hitch.

Acknowledged as a distinguished guest in the audience was the Reverend Warwick Aiken, Rector of Trinity from 1936-46. Also in the audience was Mrs. Richard O. Heistand who served as organist of Trinity during the rectorship of Dr. Willis Gaylord Clark (1947-53), and Mr. Heistand who had come from Sherman, Texas for this occasion.

Karate Students Given First Stripe

Karate students in the Bay St. Louis Judo-Karate Club were tested Nov. 4 for promotion to a higher degree of white belt. Those passing the written test and successful performance of their kata included Joe Ryan, Becky Adams, Mary Perkins, Ralph Moreno, Theresa Ryan, Marilyn McDonald, Tim Leachak, Eddie Picard, Arnold Howard and Cathy Sherman. Instruction in both karate and Judo are offered at the school which is held in the O'Connell building. About 40 students ranging in age from nine to 22 years old, attend the classes in the ancient Japanese arts of self-defense.

Karate is taught by Pat Ryan, a native of Bay St. Louis and former instructor for the FBI agents training school in Washington, D.C. Tom Tebbe, Judo instructor, is a novice at the Divine Word Seminary here. Both men are second degree brown belt. This Saturday at 2 p.m., Ryan will hold make-up promotions for those who missed the last session and on Dec. 1, promotions will be held for those students ready to progress to seventh degree white belt. The levels of proficiency in karate are indicated by the color of belt worn on the karategi (traditional karate uniform). The beginning student wears a white belt and is classed as ninth degree. An eighth degree, he wears a purple strip on his belt and at the next highest, seventh, he wears two purple stripes.

Belt colors change and numbers decrease as he progresses through purple, green and blue belts. At third, second and first degree, he wears a brown belt, then goes into the much coveted black belt classification, of which there are ten degrees.

POLICE REPORTS

Waveland police are investigating three cases of breaking and entering in private residences in the past week, two of which resulted in goods being stolen.

Unidentified person or persons broke into a residence on Old Spanish Trail, entering both the garage and house, but according to the owner, no articles are missing.

Burglars entered a home at 310 Sandy St. during the owner's absence and stole three cases of beer. The refrigerator was also disconnected, resulting in spoiling of the contents.

The occupant of a home at the corner of Pell and Sandy streets reported a lengthy list of articles stolen from the house, such as bedding, food and beverages. Police are investigating evidence gathered at the scene.

Bay St. Louis police received and responded to 45 calls in the period between Nov. 10 and 16.

Burglars broke into the Diamondhead office in the Hancock Bank Bldg. yesterday morning, and a staff member reported a calculator, electric pencil sharpener and $45 in cash stolen. Police are investigating evidence obtained.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a local woman for discharging a dangerous firearm in a public place Tuesday night. City police were called when two women began fighting and in the course of the fight, one aimed and fired a pistol at the other.

Pin. Wilbert Dorsey and Larry Ladner apprehended the driver of a car Saturday night, after a call from Pass Christian police reporting the driver had been guilty of a hit and run incident in Pass Christian.

The owner of a residence at 142 Julia St. reported Friday that in her absence, burglars had broken into her home and cooked and eaten food, then left the premises. Nothing else was missing, she said.

On the same day, the occupant of 1506 N. Beach Blvd. reported the theft of three poodles, valued at $1,000. The owner of the dogs discovered the theft when she returned home at 4:30 that afternoon.

There was an attempted breaking and entering in a residence at 111 Leopold St. Friday, but the person or persons were unsuccessful in gaining entry into the house. Chief Robert Goodsell is investigating the incident.

Two cars were slightly damaged in a collision in the Our Lady of the Gulf Church parking lot last Thursday. Neither driver was cited by police.

Four-legged, big brown eyes, bodies covered with short brown hair, approximately five-foot high, approximate weight, several hundred pounds. This was the description given police by Joe Buccola, when he reported vandals causing extensive damage to the yard of his home at 217 Felicity St. By the time police arrived, the two had severely damaged an air conditioning unit, and trampled and eaten most of the flower beds in Buccola's yard, then moved on to the J.R. Shadoin residence across the street.

The villains? Two cows which had strayed from a nearby pasture. The animals' owner was called by police and directed to take them home.

Krewe Honors New Members
Diamondhead Country Club was the setting Tuesday evening for the Krewe of Neroids' annual banquet honoring its new members.

Each new member was introduced to the Krewe and presented with a corsage in traditional Mardi Gras colors of gold, green and royal purple.

A large birthday cake, decorated with confection doubloons, was enjoyed by the members as dessert for the evening. The birthday cake marked the sixth birthday of the Gulf Coast's Women's carnival organization.

Company Hopes To Dredge Dead Shell Reefs In Sound

A permit application to the Mobile District, Corps of Engineers, to dredge dead shell reefs in a carefully restricted area of the Mississippi Sound was made last week by Potaschnick Materials, Inc. A similar application was made to the Air and Water Pollution Control Commission. Both applications are for execution under a lease granted by the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission to Middle Gulf Construction Company, whose assets have been acquired by Potaschnick.

The area of actual dredging operations of dead shell reefs will be a much smaller area than permitted by the lease.

"We are planning every safeguard to protect live oysters and the reefs which emerge from the water where fishermen find such good catches," emphasized John A. Green, vice-president and general manager of the company. "For example, we will not under any conditions dredge within 500 yards (about 5 city blocks) of Pelican Key or any of the good fishing reefs. We will not get anywhere near the Pass Christian long reef, which we feel are a great natural asset to the area. Our work will be entirely on dead reefs on the bottom, mostly out of sight of the land area where U.S. 90 runs. We will fully recognize the rights of riparian owners."

The company will be headquartered on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, with at least part of the operation based at Pass Christian. Potaschnick will shortly undertake a research program for development of uses for dead reef shell in addition to the more widely known uses such as base course for highways, preparing construction sites and roadways.

"We already know of uses of the raw material in glass making, cement making, lime manufacture and chemical processing. There are undoubtedly many more diverse uses that can be developed," Green pointed out.

Royalties paid to the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission contribute substantially to the conservation work of that group, Green pointed out, and the royalties will rise with active production from the dead shell.

WAVELAND GARDEN of the Month chosen by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club is this home at 500 Jefferson Davis. The home belongs to Miss Corinne Nelson and Miss Louise Fisher.

Hancock Hawks End Season

The Hancock North Central Hawks concluded their 1971 football season last Friday night by losing to the East Central Hornets 26-12 in the Hawks' Homecoming Game.

The two teams traded touchdowns in the first and second quarters. The first score came late in the first quarter after a Hornet drive from the Hawks 35-yard line set up an eight yard run by Ed Elridge. The Hawks evened the score on the last play of the first quarter when Hawk quarterback Mitchel Havard threw his 17th touchdown pass of the season to Kenny Seals on a 60 yard pass play to give Seals his thirteenth touchdown of the season. Havard passed to O'Neill Cuevas to pick up the next Hancock score in the second quarter. The Hornets came back with a touchdown on an eight-yard sweep by Collins to tie the score at half time, 12-12. Both teams played good defensive ball in the third quarter and there was no score. East Central broke the tie with 7:04 seconds remaining on the clock when Leon Lampert passed seven yards to Mike Buloch for a touchdown. Collins ran for a successful two-point conversion, making the score 20-12. Hancock took the ensuing kick-off and drive to the East Central 25 only to have their drive bogged down with a fumble. East Central played a ball control game and finished the scoring with a Lampert touchdown with only 19 seconds remaining in the game. The extra point attempt failed, making the final score 28-12. This was the Hawks' last game of the 77 season. Coach Terry Randolph was optimistic about the future of his team next year when interviewed after the game. He said he looked forward to next year's season.

Three year letterman, quarterback Mitchel Havard who completed 18 touchdown passes for the Hawks will be returning next year. Also veteran linemen Greg Morgan (G), Wayne Cuevas (C), and tackle Tim Cuevas will be returning. In the backfield Bobby Joe McArthur (FB), Dallas Clark (HB), Allen Hyatt (HB), and reserve quarterback and starting linebacker, Ricky Randall will be back as well as receiver Ernest Keys. Missing will be receiver Kenny Seals who scored 13 touchdowns for the Hawks this season. Bruce Staten will also be gone. Other players who will not be returning are O'Neill Cuevas (SB), Rocky Godin (T), Dale Lee (HB), Randy Ladden (HB), and Terry Dedaux (G).

Bears Defeat Sacred Heart

Before a large crowd at SSC Stadium Friday night the O. L. G. Bears displayed a fine aggressive attack in defeating the Sacred Heart Saints of Pascagoula 14-0.

Quarterback Marty Tanguis of the Bears had a great night in the passing department completing nine of 19 attempts. All of the completions were collected by the Bears ends, Kevin Martinolich, Kelly Geroux and Kerry Corr. Balancing the attack was the rushing of Mike Rosato and Bill Kergosien. Bill Kergosien scored the first Bear touchdown early in the second quarter on a yard plunge and Marty Tanguis supplied the extra point. The second score for the Bears came on the most spectacular play of the game when Kevin Martinolich intercepted a Saints pass and raced 81 yds. for the score. Kelly Geroux ran for the point after touchdown. Outstanding linemen on defense was Paul Truett with three tackles and seven assists. Top secondary on defense was Kelly Geroux with four tackles, a fumble recovery, and a pass interception. Other standouts on the defense, which held the Saints scoreless, were Mike Rosato, David Whitman, Tim Kersene, Greg Hammer, and Bill Kergosien.

In an announcement made today at St. Stanislaus High School, football coach Buddy Pitale made known his decision to retire from varsity coaching at the end of the current season. Brother Lee Barker, principal of St. Stanislaus, stated that Mr. Pitale will continue as a teaching member of the faculty and indicated that Mr. Pitale would assist with the building phase of the sports program.

Applicants for the position of head football coach are asked to contact the athletic director, Brother Louis Joseph, for an interview.

Beautiful weather has prevailed for another week with no rain, a little on the cool side while some fish were caught most everywhere both salt and fresh water. Speckles were caught mostly by trolling up Jourdan River and over in Wolf River, back of Pass Christian.

Bass were gotten most anywhere up and down Pearl River while some speckles were found in the Pipe Line canal at Ansley. Not too big but big enough for the frying pan. Larger ones will come in later with colder weather.

Various salt water fish are still being caught along the highway and railroad bridges. Reds, speckles, ground mullets, white trout, etc.

The tide was perfect for bass (green trout). Falling practically all day.

Kenneth McCarty and yours truly caught a nice batch of green trout Sunday. They were hitting surface baits on the fly rod and Repales while casting and trolling.

Milton Rozenman of Bayside Park does any kind of fishing but prefers deep sea fishing. Gets his share of them with his fishing buddy Tom McGee of Gulfport. They go on every occasion.

Ferd Strimel of Niles, Ohio, was down last week visiting M.L. Cass at his camp in Shore Line Park. Spent a couple of days fishing and camping. Ferd is one of those "D-Yankers," but a swell guy. Promised to return soon. We'll be waiting, fellow.

Speaking of fishing and hunting in this section of the Gulf Coast can't be beat. When fishing Sunday, caught fish a few miles from home, saw a Bob Stroud, Joe Darnell and Lee Ferrell caught 78 flounders around Long Point in Herron Bay. This threesome go quite often and get their share of fish. Jan, Bob's wife is also an ardent fisherman. The flounders were all big ones.

Harry Roman and Louis Decell who go fishing regularly made a record catch of flounder, red fish and speckles over the weekend, in outside waters. A few flounders that passed the four pound mark.

Bob Seay and his wife, Mabel, visited Clayton, his brother, over the weekend.

NOTICE OF FEDERAL INJUNCTION AGAINST HUNTING, TRAPPING, FISHING AND TRESPASSING ON LANDS OF THE IWANTA COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana in Civil Action No. 551 issued a permanent injunction on February 8, 1968, enjoining and prohibiting the defendant herein and others from hunting, trapping, fishing or otherwise trespassing upon the lands of The Iwanta Company, located in St. Tammany Parish South of Highway 90 between East Pearl River and West Pearl River and more particularly described in said injunction judgment.

Persons trespassing upon the above described lands of the Iwanta Company will be proceeded against before the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana, or which federal tribunal may be designated.

THE IWANTA

Shrine Restored By Local Group

The Shrine of Our Lady of the Woods, next to Our Lady of the Gulf School, was recently renovated by a group of people who wish to remain anonymous.

The shrine was erected by Father Stanislaus Buteaux, French priest who came to Bay St. Louis in 1947. Some years after his arrival, he returned to France for the double purpose of regaining his strength and seeking help in behalf of his mission.

However, he did not remain long in his native land but once more, he severed home ties and took passage for his far-off Sheldahl, now Bay St. Louis. A violent storm arose, the vessel sprang a leak. Father invoked the protection of the Blessed Mother and promised if their lives were spared, to erect a shrine in her honor. The vessel entered safely into port.

A few months later, a statue arrived from France. Father Buteaux gathered his parishioners about him, and followed by the Sisters of Saint Joseph and Brothers of the Sacred Heart, went in procession to the rear of the Saint Joseph Academy grounds, then a wilderness. Here he placed the statue upon its pedestal, the trunk of a tree felled for that purpose. Soon the Sisters, aided by a few ladies, built a wooden pedestal, and began to plant the lovely avenue of cedars that leads to the Shrine.

Some years afterwards, a gentleman involved in serious difficulties—his reputation was at stake, and a prison cell awaited him—made a solemn promise to "Our Lady of the Woods" that she would help him in this, his great need, he would erect a suitable shrine in her honor. The grace was obtained, and true to this promise, he erected the present neat little Shrine. The woods have almost disappeared, but the little statue stands pure and immaculate in a leafy bower.

That the original statue has withstood the force of the elements for over eighty years is almost miraculous. More than once the Sisters have thought it destroyed, buried beneath the debris of storms, but it has never been injured. This is all the more wonderful as the statue is of plaster on a base of wood. The Shrine, with no other protection from the elements save a tiny dome overhead.

The Sisters of St. Joseph have expressed their gratitude to those who "generously gave of their time, efforts, and financial contributions to renovate the shrine."

PTA MEETING
Coast Episcopal High School and Christ Episcopal Day School PTA met Monday night with Mrs. Gerald Bienvenu presiding.

Mrs. Marilyn Stegenga, assistant co-ordinator, City-County Library, presented the program on Guide Lines for setting up a home library.

The annual book fair to be held in December was discussed, and a definite date will be announced later.

It is said—nothing is opened more by mistake than the mouth.

John Rutherford and the men of the family were seen hauling marsh grass. They must be making duck blinds. During the first part of the duck season, lots of ducks are killed hereabout in local ponds. John and the boys are all good fishermen and hunters. I know because Jimmy and the others used to paddle me while fly fishing.

Seen fishing off the Hi-way Bridge was Al Mercier. Al catches plenty fish from his boat but has plenty luck catching speckles and fish off the bridge. Big ones, too.

Most sportsmen will be off fishing when the hunting seasons are open mostly ducks and geese. Among them are Luke Elliott, Jack Garriga, August Rauxet, Nicky Rauxet, Pete Garcia, Mickey Demoran and others. Can't do justice to both sports at the same time.

Still haven't heard of too many rabbits and squirrels being killed. Most hunters know it is too hot to hunt 'em.

We think Hoke Ogden has gone to speckle trout fishing. Tried for them the other day. Hoke is one of our best fly fishermen.

The beauty about it is that one can fish for bass and speckles in the same river or bayou. Even with the same artificial baits. Now you know why this is God's country when it comes to fishing.

Don't complain when the other fisherman catches more fish than you do. Maybe he knows what he is doing. Ever think about that?

The following was sent in by my oldest nephew Ed D. Elliott, Jr., of Lake Charles, La., an ardent fisherman. Think he has something regarding pollution:

It's Not Progress

For 28 years, I have watched the beautiful Calcasieu River die. Also English Bayou.

Then Bayou Serpent dug out to make a muddy stream. Now English Bayou stripped to the status of Bayou Serpent!

Why? For whom? Thirty years ago, you could drink the waters of Old Calcasieu River, swim in it, catch all kinds of fish aplenty.

Today these waters are no longer fit for drinking or swimming. The fish are sick and worry most of the time. They stink.

So do the waters of the Calcasieu and its tributaries.

We can build all the Toledo Bends we want; it will no doubt become as bad. But until we clean up the waters that touch Southwest Louisiana and stop the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from destroying the natural nature-made environment and stop all possible pollution, we will slip deeper into a slush pit.

WHO IS GUILTY? WE ALL ARE. There will come a time when there will be no where to run to. Many find that now 3,000 miles from home.

We all have to live with the facts — rich and poor alike. What a price to pay for regression. Surely we cannot call it progress.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day is a native American. Yet no other holiday has had its date changed as often or, in some parts of the nation, been ignored for years at a stretch.

But you remember: the first Thanksgiving, in 1621, was the Pilgrims' celebration of gratitude for a bountiful harvest — and their own survival. The feast followed a year in which 47 of the colony's 103 members had died.

Indians were invited and came with foods the Europeans had not known before — pumpkins, sweet potatoes, cranberries and, yes, turkeys. They brought venison, too, but somehow the big birds got all the publicity. A century and a half later, Ben Franklin only half-jokingly proposed the turkey as our country's symbol.

In keeping with Mrs. Hale's crusade 107 years ago, Thanksgiving Day 1971 is again, a time when we as individuals, and as a nation, realize how much we have to be thankful for.

Let each of us offer THANKS for our many blessings and — for the "American Way of Life."

On October 3, 1863, President Lincoln signed a proclamation, designating the last Thursday of each November as an annual national Thanksgiving Day, that capped a seventeen-year, dream-come-true crusade by Mrs. Sara Josepha Hale, the "Mother of Thanksgiving."

Up until that time, Mrs. Hale was known as the editor of "Godey's Lady's Book". However, she had been driven by an idea that a day be set aside each year, not only for giving thanks for the bounties of the past year, but as a day of national purpose and unity.

Navy Has Join Now-Go Later Program

The United States Navy has a program that allows you to join the Navy today and not leave for basic training until up to 30 days later. This is the Navy's "Cache" Program. During this time you do not wear a uniform but the time counts towards your military obligation. You are also earning seniority for pay purposes.

The biggest advantage in this program is that this delay allows you to join the Navy and then have time to get ready to leave.

For information on the Cache Program or on any of the Navy's varied programs contact your local Navy Recruiter, Chief, Dew, at the Service Office in Bay St. Louis, every Thursday Morning.

Echoes Argus Urges Use Of Local Architects

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scianna attended the Sixth District Rural Letter Carriers meeting and dinner Saturday night at William Carey College, Hattiesburg.

Miss Frances Noesges has returned from Iowa to spend the winter months with Mrs. Lucille P. Weeks at her Carroll Avenue home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bradbury and children Wade and Wayne and her mother Mrs. Clarence Randolph spent the weekend in Brookhaven, Miss., where they were guests of Mrs. Bradbury's son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Sid Smith and son Sid, Jr.

A Mississippi Gulf Coast architect advocated in Gulfport Monday night the creation of a Coast Architect's Collaborative to design and construct the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum—the giant recreation-cultural center proposed for the Gulfport-Biloxi area.

Bill Argus, Jr., said the collaborative would be a joint venture arrangement by qualified architectural firms in Harrison, Hancock, and Jackson counties.

Argus, who is executive vice president of Blitch Associates, Ltd., Bay St. Louis, said the collaborative type arrangement is not unusual. The new civic complex at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, is being handled in a similar manner, he added.

As an example of the Coast Architect's Collaborative, Argus said "one or two architectural firms could be assigned the task of design and coordination. Another firm could be assigned program planning. Several firms could produce the many construction plans and specifications required."

"Other firms would administer the construction phase under the Coast Architect's Collaborative. Other Gulf Coast architects could handle research and public relations."

Argus addressed the Greater Gulfport chapter of Women in Construction at a dinner meeting in the chandeller room of the Security Building in Gulfport, Monday night.

During his address, the Bay St. Louis architect emphasized that no one Gulf Coast firm has the manpower to produce a project of this size. However, he added, the combined architectural talent could produce great results.

"Why go elsewhere when the cumulative talent is here—right on the Mississippi Gulf Coast," he asked?

Argus said the chief virtue of a Coast Architect's Collaborative would be the providing of architectural services on a scale equivalent to the largest firms in the United States, yet utilizing the multi-talented disciplines of the Mississippi Gulf Coast architectural firms.

During his address, Argus showed color slides of "Harrison County Coast Square"—a concept of the proposed recreation-cultural center designed by Blitch Associates, Ltd., which was on display in Edgewater Plaza.

"Coast Square could be a symbol of the civic pride of the Gulf Coast," he said. "Coast Square would be a huge recreation-convention-entertainment center which could provide for Gulf Coast residents all facilities necessary for enjoying their favorite pastimes."

"The well designed theatre areas and arena would attract events which Gulf Coast residents at present must travel to see—to New Orleans, Mobile, Houston and Jackson. These range from Operas to touring Broadway shows to rodeos."

"Here, on our own Gulf Coast, with direct access to Interstate 10, would be our own complex, midway between New Orleans and Mobile and close to Jackson."

"Coast Square would mean people would be coming to us. It could be a beautiful area—a new landmark to replace those demolished by Camille's precocious winds."

Argus, who is a member of a longtime Bay St. Louis family, joined the New Orleans architectural firm of J. Buchanan Blitch and Associates in 1960. He became director of the firm's Gulf Coast activities in 1969 and earlier this year became a partner and executive vice president of Blitch Associates, Ltd., Bay St. Louis.

Celebration Given Bay Junior Team

Three local couples hosted a gala party Saturday night in honor of the Bay Junior High football team, on the occasion of the team's winning the Gulf Coast Conference Championship in their division.

Mrs. and Mrs. William Schwartz, Milton Favre and Hugo Favre arranged the party which was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Main St. That organization contributed the hall without charge and a number of business people throughout the community also contributed to the party fare.

About 150 persons attended the affair including team fans from New Orleans. Music was furnished by the Mississippi Rambler for dancing after the awards presentations.

Trophies donated by the hosting couples went to Tim Favre for Outstanding Defensive Player and David Grace for Outstanding Offensive Player. Plaques of appreciation from team members also went to team coaches Billy Rhodes and Cleveland Williams.

Waveland 4-H Elects Officers

Lisa Klein was elected recreational leader and Donna Bielstein reporter for Waveland 4-H Club at Thursday afternoon's meeting held in Waveland Methodist Fellowship Hall.

The business session opened with the 4-H pledge and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Sylvia Sonier gave the devotional.

A demonstration on the proper way of setting a breakfast table was given by Katherine Fudich and Michelle Hasney discussed bicycle safety.

Mrs. Maurice George, leader, told the group they will start sewing on aprons and shirts at the next meeting and asked that they bring materials, patterns and other sewing needs. She also said Clermont Harbor Extension Homemakers will give the 4-Hers a Christmas party, Saturday, December 11, from 1 to 3 p.m.

It was noted the sale of calendars by the girls is proceeding nicely, and members who sold them are asked to bring the proceeds from their sales to the next meeting.

Lisa Klein was named to give the devotional at the January meeting and Judy Smith and Charlotte Ladner to present the demonstrations.

The meeting closed with reading of the 4-H creed.

Raiders Edge Out Warriors

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders played St. Clare's last Saturday and underwent a tough game, edging out the Warriors 14-0. Maury Wingo got off a high spiral punt which was fumbled by the Warriors on their 5-yard line and Brinkley Morse jumped on it in the end zone. Joe Doussan went in for the 2 points. When the Warriors punted from their 35 yard line, Jamie Hans grabbed the ball on the 48-yard line and ran down the side lines for a 52-yard punt return. The Raiders played a beautiful defensive game with each member of the secondary. Matthew Hammett, Maury Wingo, and Jamie Hans intercepting a pass, and with Asahel Cooper recovering a fumble.

The Raiders ended up the season with a 4-5-0 record, very good for a first year team.

Coast Mayors Will Light Christmas Trees

The Gulf Coast Christmas Tree Lighting Festival, to be celebrated Thanksgiving night in downtown Gulfport, was designed to "bring together through the spirit of the Christmas season all seven great cities of the Gulf Coast in an expression of unity."

Frank Cifaldi, manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Gulfport, one of the coordinators of the event, said seven trees, each representing one of the cities participating, and a Tree of Unity will be illuminated during the festival.

The eight trees will be built into a 42-foot tree-like structure being erected at the intersection of 25th avenue and 13th street.

Mayors of Ocean Springs, Biloxi, Gulfport, Long Beach, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis and Waveland have been invited to take part in the festival and turn on the lights on their respective trees. All seven mayors or their representatives will turn the switch illuminating the Tree of Unity.

Mayor Daniel D. Guice of Biloxi, commenting on the unique event, the first of its type on the Coast, expressed pleasure that "the spirit of unity developed in the aftermath of Hurricane Camille appears to be continuing in our Coast communities."

He stated all Coast cities have a chance "to take advantage of the opportunities before us through a unified effort."

"I look forward," Guice continued, "to the time when many of our mutual responsibilities, such as in the field of law enforcement and other areas, will be combined under one agency."

Cifaldi, who has undertaken coordination of the festival with Charles Hewes, Downtown Merchants Association chairman, said the eighth tree in the colorful structure "will serve as the Gulf Coast Christmas unity tree and will reflect the spirit of all our proud cities during this gala time of the year."

Through the participation of all Gulf Coast citizens, Cifaldi noted, "It is hoped the spirit of togetherness can be extended far beyond the Christmas season."
